

MANY PLANTS AND ANIMAL FROM THE DEVELOPED COUNTRIES ARE FACING EXTINCTION.

In the developed countries like America and other countries they think of developing their countries so they forget about all their natural resources.

- AFTER ALL THE NAURAL RESOURCES WERE ABOUT TO WANISH IN DEVELOPED COUTRIES!
- Later after the land destruction for the purpose of development, the people thought about their natural resources but it was almost late for them.
- So the Government, Universities and Organizations decided to build some artificial environment or so called National Zoo.
- They build Zoos and keep animals, birds and other living things from their countries and other countries too.
- The idea was to build large Zoos to preserve some of the large animals which are still existing today
- It's very hard work to care of every thing in a Zoo. Just imagine such mammal like polar bear survives in the wild instead of been feed in a Zoo.

- Zoo is a place were all kinds of animals are kept. In the picture is the polar bears from kept in Common Zoo USA America

- Bellow : B. William Kew Botanical Garden London UK.

